TOWN & COUNTRY

SEPTEMBER 1986/$3.00

Gerrit and Sydam Lansing, above, are serious collectors of contemporary art, and their apartment is an ever-changing exhibition space. Gerrit serves on the international council of the Museum of Modern Art and is chairman of I.C.I., Independent Curators, Inc., a nonprofit group that funds traveling art exhibitions. Sydie, a trustee of the Checkerboard Foundation, wears pearls from the popular costume jewelry line she designs. She is seated on a Russell Sharon chair next to Carol Anthony's linen-mâché Art Dealers. Behind them is Mark Tansey's Take One.
